A short explanation by Martin Besecke, December 2021

In the 1960s and 1970s, the so-called "New Age Movement" thematised the cosmic Age of Aquarius and made it known around the world, as well as celebrated and sung about it, for example the music group The 5th Dimension: "Age of Aquarius" (1969).

This movement, which in its majority of its knowledge, understanding and inner development level was still only moving on a semi-esoteric level, was at that time in the firm belief that the Aquarian Age was already fully and firmly manifested and that because of the with it predominating energies that affect the earth and the people, the people become automatically, so to speak, all by themselves, to spiritual enlightened as well as developed and evolved people, and the world and the system also automatically, all by themselves and without great effort, will develop for the better.

These assumptions are fundamentally wrong!

Because a new cosmic age always needs a longer time from begin of the arising up to the complete establishment. How long exactly can never be said in advance, but one has to reckon with around 150 years plus X in any case.

The current Age of Aquarius began to arise around 1930/1940, which means that the Age of Aquarius currently, as of 2021, is still arising and not yet fully established.

The cosmic ages represent the seasons in the Universe. The Aquarian Age represents the spring and its energies promote and support new things and further development through renewal, while the current, as of 2021, still existing Age of Pisces represents the winter and its energies stand for standstill, holding on to the existing, but also for stability (in the positive as in the negative).

Basically one has to know that the previous, still existing age never retreats without a fight! This means, for example, that a new and better system will not come automatically, so to speak, all by itself and without any great effort - The old, the existing also can continue to exist in the new Aquarian Age! - , but that a new and better system must be fought for in the truest sense of the word!

However, if these struggles for renewal and improvement are to be waged, regardless of whether they are peaceful or not, they will definitely be won due to the energies associated with the Aquarian Age!

But one has to go into these battles in any case, because, as mentioned, the system will not renew and improve itself only due to the Aquarian Age.

It is similar with the spiritual development of the human.

It is not the case here either that only because of the Aquarian Age the human will automatically, so to speak, all by himself, to develop further spiritually. No, even in the Age of Aquarius the human must first of all begin the path of the spiritual development and then walk truthfully, consistently and with discipline. Even in the Age of Aquarius, this path is individual, very difficult, long and stony. But because of the energies associated with the Aquarian Age, the access is made much easier.

In principle, a cosmic age, if it is fully established, then lasts for several centuries!
